

CPI Appoints Debbie Stringer as Energy & Environment Manager

CPI is pleased to announce the appointment of Debbie Stringer as its Energy & Environment Manager.

A graduate in Paper Technology, Debbie joins CPI with over 20 years experience working in paper mills, having been employed with Abitibi Bowater at its Bridgewater Mill in technical and environmental roles.

Steve Freeman, CPI Head of Energy & Environmental Affairs, said: "Debbie strengthens our expertise in mill-related energy and environmental issues as increasingly complex and important regulatory issues continue to develop. In particular, the new BREF and subsequent permit reviews will be of critical importance for mills, and Debbie will have a key role to play in ensuring proposals are realistic and workable."
